Portfolio Update

The performance of international equities was positive in July. Risk appetite returned to global markets, supported by strong second-quarter earnings, good economic data, and positive news regarding banking regulations and European stress tests. Equity dividend yields continue to exceed government bond yields, a sign of attractive equity valuations. In the current environment, where the strength and sustainability of the economic recovery remains uncertain, high-quality companies with strong balance sheets, global growth exposure and attractive dividend yields are expected to outperform.
